Defendant.)

This matter came before the court today for a preliminary examination on the government's motion for revocation of Defendant's supervised release [DE-7] and for a hearing on the government's motion to detain Defendant pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 3141 et seq.

At the commencement of the consolidated hearings, Defendant indicated through counsel his intention to waive the preliminary examination and detention hearing. Defendant and his counsel executed the requisite paperwork memorializing Defendant's desire to waive the preliminary examination and detention hearing. After conducting an inquiry of Defendant and his counsel in open court, this court finds that Defendant has waived his right to a preliminary examination and detention hearing knowingly and voluntarily and the court accepts Defendant's waiver of his right to a preliminary examination and detention hearing.

Based on Defendant's knowing and voluntary waiver, this court finds probable cause exists to hold Defendant over for a hearing on the government's motion to revoke supervised release. Based on Defendant's waiver of his right to a detention hearing, there is no condition, or combination of conditions, that can be imposed which would reasonably assure Defendant's appearance and/or the safety of another person or the community.

Defendant is therefore committed to the custody of the Attorney General or a designated representative for confinement in a corrections facility separate, to the extent practicable, from persons awaiting or serving sentences or held in custody pending appeal. Defendant shall be afforded a reasonable opportunity to consult privately with defense counsel. On order of the United States Court or on request of an attorney for the government, the person in charge of the corrections facility shall deliver Defendant to the United States marshal for a court appearance.

SO ORDERED, the 27th day of December 2016.
